VI. Judicial work of the Tribunal

A. Request for an advisory opinion submitted by the Sub-Regional Fisheries Commission (SRFC)

32. The Sub-Regional Fisheries Commission (SRFC) is a regional fisheries organization composed of seven member States: Cabo Verde, the Gambia, Guinea, Guinea-Bissau, Mauritania, Senegal and Sierra Leone. By a resolution adopted by the Conference of Ministers of the Sub-Regional Fisheries Commission at its fourteenth session, held on 27 and 28 March 2013, the Conference of Ministers decided, in accordance with article 33 of the 2012 Convention on the Determination of the Minimal Conditions for Access and Exploitation of Marine Resources within the Maritime Areas under Jurisdiction of the Member States of the Sub-Regional Fisheries Commission (MCA Convention), to authorize the Permanent Secretary of the Commission to submit a request for an advisory opinion to the Tribunal, pursuant to article 138 of the Rules.

33. On 28 March 2013, the Permanent Secretary of the Sub-Regional Fisheries Commission transmitted to the Tribunal a request for an advisory opinion on the following questions:

- (1) What are the obligations of the flag State in cases where illegal, unreported and unregulated (IUU) fishing activities are conducted within the exclusive economic zone of third party States?
- (2) To what extent shall the flag State be held liable for IUU fishing activities conducted by vessels sailing under its flag?
- (3) Where a fishing licence is issued to a vessel within the framework of an international agreement with the flag State or with an international agency, shall the State or international agency be held liable for the violation of the fisheries legislation of the coastal State by the vessel in question?
- (4) What are the rights and obligations of the coastal State in ensuring the sustainable management of shared stocks and stocks of common interest, especially the small pelagic species and tuna?

34. The request was received by the Tribunal on 28 March 2013 and entered in the list of cases of the Tribunal as case No. 21.

35. On 24 May 2013, the Tribunal adopted an order and fixed 29 November 2013 as the time limit for the presentation of written statements. The time limit was extended to 19 December 2013 by an order of the President dated 3 December 2013.

36. Within this time limit, written statements were filed by the following States parties to the Convention, which are listed in chronological order by date of submission: Saudi Arabia, Germany, New Zealand, China, Somalia, Ireland, Federated States of Micronesia, Australia, Japan, Portugal, Chile, Argentina, United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, Thailand, Netherlands, European Union, Cuba, France, Spain, Montenegro, Switzerland and Sri Lanka. Within the same time limit, written statements were also submitted by SRFC and the following six organizations, which are listed in chronological order by date of submission: Forum Fisheries Agency, International Union for Conservation of Nature, Caribbean Regional Fisheries Mechanism, United Nations, Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations and Central American Fisheries and Aquaculture Organization. Those written statements were made accessible to the public on the Tribunal's website.

37. A statement by a State not party to the Convention (United States of America) was submitted to the Tribunal. The Tribunal decided that this statement should be considered as part of the case file and should be posted on the Tribunal's website, in a separate section of documents related to the case, entitled "States parties to the 1995 Straddling Fish Stocks Agreement".

38. In addition, a statement was submitted by an international non-governmental organization (World Wide Fund for Nature), which was informed by the Registrar, in a letter dated 4 December 2013, that its statement would not be considered part of the case file, but would be placed on the Tribunal's website in a separate section of documents relating to the case.

39. By an order dated 20 December 2013, the President fixed 14 March 2014 as the time limit within which States parties to the Convention and intergovernmental organizations having presented written statements could submit written statements on the statements made.

40. Within this time limit, additional written statements were submitted by the following States parties, which are listed in chronological order by date of submission: United Kingdom, New Zealand, European Union, Netherlands and Thailand. Within the same time limit, an additional written statement was also submitted by SRFC. All the statements were posted on the website of the Tribunal.

41. In addition, a statement was submitted by the World Wide Fund for Nature, which was informed by the Registrar, in a letter dated 20 March 2014, that its statement would not be included in the case file but would be placed on the Tribunal's website in a separate section of documents relating to the case.

42. By an order dated 14 April 2014, the President fixed 2 September 2014 as the date for the opening of the oral proceedings and invited the States parties, SRFC and the intergovernmental organizations listed in the annex to the order of the Tribunal of 24 May 2013 to participate in the proceedings.

43. Prior to the opening of the oral proceedings, the Tribunal held initial deliberations on 29 August and 1 September 2014.

44. The hearing took place from 2 to 5 September 2014, during which statements were made at four public sittings by States parties and international organizations in the following order: SRFC, Germany, Argentina, Australia, Chile, Spain, Federated States of Micronesia, New Zealand, United Kingdom, Thailand, European Union, Caribbean Regional Fisheries Mechanism and International Union for Conservation of Nature.

45. The Tribunal delivered its advisory opinion on 2 April 2015. It decided that it had jurisdiction to give the advisory opinion requested by SRFC and that, in the case before it, its jurisdiction was limited to the exclusive economic zones of the SRFC member States. The Tribunal decided to respond to the request.

46. The replies to the questions submitted by SRFC as contained in the operative clauses of the advisory opinion (para. 219) are reproduced below:

THE TRIBUNAL,

Replies to the first question as follows:

The flag State has the obligation to take necessary measures, including those of enforcement, to ensure compliance by vessels flying its flag with the laws and regulations enacted by the SRFC Member States concerning marine living resources within their exclusive economic zones for purposes of conservation and management of these resources.

The flag State is under an obligation, in light of the provisions of article 58, paragraph 3, article 62, paragraph 4, and article 192 of the Convention, to take the necessary measures to ensure that vessels flying its flag are not engaged in IUU fishing activities as defined in the MCA Convention within the exclusive economic zones of the SRFC Member States.

The flag State, in fulfilment of its obligation to effectively exercise jurisdiction and control in administrative matters under article 94 of the Convention, has the obligation to adopt the necessary administrative measures to ensure that fishing vessels flying its flag are not involved in activities in the exclusive economic zones of the SRFC Member States which undermine the flag State's responsibility under article 192 of the Convention for protecting and preserving the marine environment and conserving the marine living resources which are an integral element of the marine environment.

The foregoing obligations are obligations of "due diligence".

The flag State and the SRFC Member States are under an obligation to cooperate in cases related to IUU fishing by vessels of the flag State in the exclusive economic zones of the SRFC Member States concerned.

The flag State, in cases where it receives a report from an SRFC Member State alleging that a vessel or vessels flying its flag have been involved in IUU fishing within the exclusive economic zone of that SRFC Member State, has the obligation to investigate the matter and, if appropriate, take any action necessary to remedy the situation, and to inform the SRFC Member State of that action.

Replies to the second question as follows:

The liability of the flag State does not arise from a failure of vessels flying its flag to comply with the laws and regulations of the SRFC Member States concerning IUU fishing activities in their exclusive economic zones, as the violation of such laws and regulations by vessels is not per se attributable to the flag State.

The liability of the flag State arises from its failure to comply with its “due diligence” obligations concerning IUU fishing activities conducted by vessels flying its flag in the exclusive economic zones of the SRFC Member States.

The SRFC Member States may hold liable the flag State of a vessel conducting IUU fishing activities in their exclusive economic zones for a breach, attributable to the flag State, of its international obligations, referred to in the reply to the first question.

The flag State is not liable if it has taken all necessary and appropriate measures to meet its “due diligence” obligations to ensure that vessels flying its flag do not conduct IUU fishing activities in the exclusive economic zones of the SRFC Member States.

Replies to the third question as follows:

The question only relates to those international organizations, referred to in articles 305, paragraph 1(f), and 306 of the Convention, and Annex IX to the Convention, to which their member States, which are parties to the Convention, have transferred competence over matters governed by it; in the present case the matter in question is fisheries. At present, the only such international organization is the European Union to which the member States, which are parties to the Convention, have transferred competence with regard to “the conservation and management of sea fishing resources”.

In cases where an international organization, in the exercise of its exclusive competence in fisheries matters, concludes a fisheries access agreement with an SRFC Member State, which provides for access by vessels flying the flag of its member States to fish in the exclusive economic zone of that State, the obligations of the flag State become the obligations of the international organization. The international organization, as the only contracting party to the fisheries access agreement with the SRFC Member State, must therefore ensure that vessels flying the flag of a member State comply with the fisheries laws and regulations of the SRFC Member State and do not conduct IUU fishing activities within the exclusive economic zone of that State.

Accordingly, only the international organization may be held liable for any breach of its obligations arising from the fisheries access agreement, and not its member States. Therefore, if the international organization does not meet its “due diligence” obligations, the SRFC Member States may hold the international organization liable for the violation of their fisheries laws and regulations by a vessel flying the flag of a member State of that organization and fishing in the exclusive economic zones of the SRFC Member States within the framework of a fisheries access agreement between that organization and such Member States.

The SRFC Member States may, pursuant to article 6, paragraph 2, of Annex IX to the Convention, request an international organization or its member States which are parties to the Convention for information as to who has responsibility in respect of any specific matter. The organization and the member States concerned must provide this information. Failure to do so within a reasonable time or the provision of contradictory information results in joint and several liability of the international organization and the member States concerned.

Replies to the fourth question as follows:

In the case of stocks referred to in article 63, paragraph 1, of the Convention, the SRFC Member States have the right to seek to agree, either directly or through appropriate subregional or regional organizations, with other SRFC Member States in whose exclusive economic zones these stocks occur upon the measures necessary to coordinate and ensure the conservation and development of such stocks.

Under the Convention, the SRFC Member States have the obligation to ensure the sustainable management of shared stocks while these stocks occur in their exclusive economic zones; this includes the following:

- (i) the obligation to cooperate, as appropriate, with the competent international organizations, whether subregional, regional or global, to ensure through proper conservation and management measures that the maintenance of the shared stocks in the exclusive economic zone is not endangered by overexploitation (see article 61, paragraph 2, of the Convention);
- (ii) in relation to the same stock or stocks of associated species which occur within the exclusive economic zones of two or more SRFC Member States, the obligation to “seek ... to agree upon the measures necessary to coordinate and ensure the conservation and development of such stocks” (article 63, paragraph 1, of the Convention);
- (iii) in relation to tuna species, the obligation to cooperate directly or through the SRFC with a view to ensuring conservation and promoting the objective of optimum utilization of such species in their exclusive economic zones (see article 64, paragraph 1, of the Convention). The measures taken pursuant to such obligation should be consistent and compatible with those taken by the appropriate regional organization, namely the International Commission for the Conservation of Atlantic Tunas, throughout the region, both within and beyond the exclusive economic zones of the SRFC Member States.

The obligation to “seek to agree ...” under article 63, paragraph 1, and the obligation to cooperate under article 64, paragraph 1, of the Convention are “due diligence” obligations which require the States concerned to consult with one another in good faith, pursuant to article 300 of the Convention. The consultations should be meaningful in the sense that substantial effort should be made by all States concerned, with a view to adopting effective measures necessary to coordinate and ensure the conservation and development of shared stocks.

The conservation and development of shared stocks in the exclusive economic zone of an SRFC Member State require from that State effective measures aimed at preventing over-exploitation of such stocks that could undermine their sustainable exploitation and the interests of neighbouring Member States.

In light of the foregoing, the SRFC Member States fishing in their exclusive economic zones for shared stocks which also occur in the exclusive economic zones of other Member States must consult each other when setting up management measures for those shared stocks to coordinate and ensure the conservation and development of such stocks. Such management measures are also required in respect of fishing for those stocks by vessels flying the flag of non-Member States.

Cooperation between the States concerned on issues pertaining to the conservation and management of shared fisheries resources, as well as the promotion of the optimum utilization of those resources, is a well-established principle in the Convention. This principle is reflected in several articles of the Convention, namely articles 61, 63 and 64.

Fisheries conservation and management measures, to be effective, should concern the whole stock unit over its entire area of distribution or migration routes. Fish stocks, in particular the stocks of small pelagic species and tuna, shared by the SRFC Member States in their exclusive economic zones are also shared by several other States bordering the Atlantic Ocean. The Tribunal, however, has limited its examination and conclusions to the shared stocks in the exclusive economic zones of the SRFC Member States, constrained as it is by the limited scope of its jurisdiction in the present case.

In exercising their rights and performing their duties under the Convention in their respective exclusive economic zones, the SRFC Member States and other States Parties to the Convention must have due regard to the rights and duties of one another. This flows from articles 56, paragraph 2, and 58, paragraph 3, of the Convention and from the States Parties' obligation to protect and preserve the marine environment, a fundamental principle underlined in articles 192 and 193 of the Convention and referred to in the fourth paragraph of its preamble. Living resources and marine life are part of the marine environment and, as stated in the Southern Bluefin Tuna Cases, "the conservation of the living resources of the sea is an element in the protection and preservation of the marine environment".

Although, in the present case, the jurisdiction of the Tribunal is limited to the area of application of the MCA Convention, in the case of fish stocks that occur both within the exclusive economic zones of the SRFC Member States and in an area beyond and adjacent to these zones, these States and the States fishing for such stocks in the adjacent area are required, under article 63, paragraph 2, of the Convention, to seek to agree upon the measures necessary for the conservation of those stocks in the adjacent area.

With respect to tuna species, the SRFC Member States have the right, under article 64, paragraph 1, of the Convention, to require cooperation from non-member States whose nationals fish for tuna in the region, "directly or through appropriate international organizations with a view to ensuring conservation and promoting the objective of optimum utilization of such species".

B. Dispute Concerning Delimitation of the Maritime Boundary between Ghana and Côte d'Ivoire in the Atlantic Ocean (Ghana/Côte d'Ivoire)

47. During consultations held by the President of the Tribunal with representatives of Ghana and Côte d'Ivoire on 2 and 3 December 2014, a special agreement was concluded between the two States on 3 December 2014 to submit the dispute concerning the delimitation of their maritime boundary in the Atlantic Ocean to a special chamber of the Tribunal to be formed pursuant to article 15, paragraph 2, of the Statute. An original copy of the special agreement was delivered to the Registry on 3 December 2014, which constituted the notification required under article 55 of the Rules. The case was entered in the Tribunal's list of cases as case No. 23.

48. By an order dated 12 January 2015, the Tribunal decided to accede to the request of the parties to form a Special Chamber to deal with the case and determined the composition of the Special Chamber with their approval.³ By the same order, the Tribunal decided that the written proceedings would consist of a memorial presented by Ghana and a counter-memorial presented by Côte d'Ivoire, and that the Special Chamber might authorize or direct the presentation of a reply by Ghana and a rejoinder by Côte d'Ivoire, if the Special Chamber decided, at the request of a party or proprio motu, that these pleadings were necessary.

49. On 18 February 2015, the President of the Special Chamber held consultations with the representatives of the parties in order to ascertain their views with regard to questions of procedure.

50. On 24 February 2015, further to the agreement of the parties, the President of the Special Chamber adopted an order fixing 4 September 2015 as the time limit for the filing of the memorial by Ghana, 4 April 2016 as the time limit for the filing of the counter-memorial by Côte d'Ivoire, and, should the Special Chamber find it necessary to authorize the presentation of a reply and a rejoinder, 4 July 2016 as the time limit for the filing of the reply by Ghana and 4 October 2016 as the time limit for the filing of the rejoinder by Côte d'Ivoire. The memorial was filed within the time limit so prescribed.

51. On 27 February 2015, Côte d'Ivoire filed a request for the prescription of provisional measures by the Special Chamber in accordance with article 290, paragraph 1, of the Convention.

52. By an order dated 6 March 2015, after having ascertained the views of the parties, the President fixed 29 March 2015 as the date for the opening of the hearing.

53. Ghana filed its written statement with the Special Chamber on 23 March 2015.

54. Prior to the opening of the hearing, the Special Chamber held initial deliberations on 28 March 2015.

55. Oral statements were presented at four public sittings held on 29 and 30 March 2015.

³ For the composition of the special chamber, see para. 21.

56. In accordance with article 75, paragraph 2, of the Rules, the parties presented the following final submissions at the hearing on 30 March 2015:

On behalf of Côte d'Ivoire:

Côte d'Ivoire requests the Special Chamber to prescribe provisional measures requiring Ghana to:

- take all steps to suspend all ongoing oil exploration and exploitation operations in the disputed area;
- refrain from granting any new permit for oil exploration and exploitation in the disputed area;
- take all steps necessary to prevent information resulting from past, ongoing or future exploration activities conducted by Ghana, or with its authorization, in the disputed area from being used in any way whatsoever to the detriment of Côte d'Ivoire;
- and, generally, take all necessary steps to preserve the continental shelf, its superjacent waters and its subsoil; and
- desist and refrain from any unilateral action entailing a risk of prejudice to the rights of Côte d'Ivoire and any unilateral action that might lead to aggravating the dispute.

On behalf of Ghana:

Ghana requests the Special Chamber to deny all of Côte d'Ivoire's requests for provisional measures.

57. The Special Chamber delivered its order unanimously on 25 April 2015.

58. In its order, the Special Chamber found that it had prima facie jurisdiction over the dispute (para. 38). While noting that the power to prescribe provisional measures under article 290, paragraph 1, of the Convention “has as its object the preservation of the respective rights of the parties to the dispute or the prevention of serious harm to the marine environment pending the final decision” (para. 39), the Special Chamber observed, however, that it “may not prescribe provisional measures unless it finds that there is ‘a real and imminent risk that irreparable prejudice may be caused to the rights of the parties in dispute’” (para. 41). It also considered that “urgency is required in order to exercise the power to prescribe provisional measures, that is to say the need to avert a real and imminent risk that irreparable prejudice may be caused to rights at issue before the final decision is delivered” (para. 42).

59. Concerning “the rights which Côte d'Ivoire claims on the merits and seeks to protect”, the Special Chamber stated that, before prescribing provisional measures, it need only satisfy itself that these rights “are at least plausible” (para. 58) and found that “Côte d'Ivoire has presented enough material to show that the rights it seeks to protect in the disputed area are plausible” (para. 62).

60. As regards the request by Côte d'Ivoire for provisional measures to prevent serious harm to the marine environment, the Special Chamber found that “Côte d'Ivoire has not adduced sufficient evidence to support its allegations that the activities conducted by Ghana in the disputed area are such as to create an imminent risk of serious harm to the marine environment” (para. 67). It underlined, however, that the risk of serious harm to the marine environment was of great concern to it (para. 68) and that the parties should in the circumstances “act with prudence and caution to prevent serious harm to the marine environment” (para. 72).

61. The Special Chamber noted that “there is a risk of irreparable prejudice where, in particular, activities result in significant and permanent modification of the physical character of the area in dispute and where such modification cannot be fully compensated by financial reparations” (para. 89) and that “whatever its nature, any compensation awarded would never be able to restore the status quo ante in respect of the seabed and subsoil” (para. 90). It added that “this situation may affect the rights of Côte d’Ivoire in an irreversible manner if the Special Chamber were to find in its decision on the merits that all or any part of the area in dispute belongs to Côte d’Ivoire” (para. 91). The Special Chamber therefore considered that “the exploration and exploitation activities, as planned by Ghana, may cause irreparable prejudice to the sovereign and exclusive rights invoked by Côte d’Ivoire in the continental shelf and superjacent waters of the disputed area, before a decision on the merits is given by the Special Chamber, and that the risk of such prejudice is imminent” (para. 96).

62. The Special Chamber was of the view that “the suspension of ongoing activities conducted by Ghana in respect of which drilling has already taken place would entail the risk of considerable financial loss to Ghana and its concessionaires and could also pose a serious danger to the marine environment resulting, in particular, from the deterioration of equipment (para. 99). It therefore considered that an order suspending all exploration or exploitation activities conducted by or on behalf of Ghana in the disputed area, including activities in respect of which drilling has already taken place, would cause prejudice to the rights claimed by Ghana and create an undue burden on it and that such an order could also cause harm to the marine environment (paras. 100 and 101). Thus, the Special Chamber considered it appropriate, “in order to preserve the rights of Côte d’Ivoire, to order Ghana to take all the necessary steps to ensure that no new drilling either by Ghana or under its control takes place in the disputed area” (para. 102).

63. For these reasons, the Special Chamber prescribed, pending the final decision, the following provisional measures under article 290, paragraph 1, of the Convention:

(a) Ghana shall take all necessary steps to ensure that no new drilling either by Ghana or under its control takes place in the disputed area ...;

(b) Ghana shall take all necessary steps to prevent information resulting from past, ongoing or future exploration activities conducted by Ghana, or with its authorization, in the disputed area that is not already in the public domain from being used in any way whatsoever to the detriment of Côte d’Ivoire;

(c) Ghana shall carry out strict and continuous monitoring of all activities undertaken by Ghana or with its authorization in the disputed area with a view to ensuring the prevention of serious harm to the marine environment;

(d) The parties shall take all necessary steps to prevent serious harm to the marine environment, including the continental shelf and its superjacent waters, in the disputed area and shall cooperate to that end;

(e) The parties shall pursue cooperation and refrain from any unilateral action that might lead to aggravating the dispute.

64. The Special Chamber further decided that Ghana and Côte d'Ivoire each had to submit an initial report not later than 25 May 2015 to the Special Chamber, and authorized the President of the Special Chamber to request such information as he may consider appropriate after that date. Each party submitted an initial report on the measures taken within the prescribed time limit.

C. The “Enrica Lexie” Incident (Italy v. India), Provisional Measures

65. On 26 June 2015, Italy instituted arbitration proceedings against India under annex VII to the Convention in a dispute concerning “an incident ... involving the M/V Enrica Lexie, an oil tanker flying the Italian flag, and India’s subsequent exercise of jurisdiction over the incident”.

66. Pending the constitution of the arbitral tribunal and after expiry of the two-week time limit provided for by article 290, paragraph 5, of the Convention, Italy, on 21 July 2015, submitted a request to the Tribunal for the prescription of provisional measures in respect of the dispute concerning the Enrica Lexie incident. The case was entered in the Tribunal’s list of cases as case No. 24.

67. By an order dated 24 July 2015, after having ascertained the views of the parties, the President fixed 10 August 2015 as the date for the opening of the hearing.

68. Since the Tribunal did not include upon the bench a judge of Italian nationality, Italy chose Francesco Francioni to sit as judge ad hoc in this case, pursuant to article 17 of the Statute and article 19 of the Rules.

69. India filed with the Tribunal a statement in response on 6 August 2015.

70. Prior to the opening of the hearing, the Tribunal held initial deliberations on 8 August 2015.

71. Oral statements were presented at four public sittings held on 10 and 11 August 2015. In accordance with article 75, paragraph 2, of the Rules, the parties presented the following final submissions at the hearing on 11 August 2015:

On behalf of Italy:

Italy requests that the Tribunal prescribe the following provisional measures:

(a) India shall refrain from taking or enforcing any judicial or administrative measures against Sergeant Massimiliano Latorre and Sergeant Salvatore Girone in connection with the Enrica Lexie incident, and from exercising any other form of jurisdiction over the Enrica Lexie incident; and

(b) India shall take all measures necessary to ensure that restrictions on the liberty, security and movement of the marines be immediately lifted to enable Sergeant Girone to travel to and remain in Italy and Sergeant Latorre to remain in Italy throughout the duration of the proceedings before the annex VII tribunal.

On behalf of India:

[T]he Republic of India requests the International Tribunal for the Law of the Sea to reject the submissions made by the Republic of Italy in its request for the prescription of provisional measures and [to] refuse prescription of any provisional measure[s] in the present case.

72. The Tribunal delivered its order on 24 August 2015.

73. In its order, the Tribunal noted that “both parties agree that there is a dispute between them on matters of fact and law relating to the Enrica Lexie incident” (para. 51). It observed that, at the stage of the provisional measures proceedings, it “must satisfy itself that any of the provisions invoked by the Applicant appear prima facie to afford a basis on which the jurisdiction of the annex VII arbitral tribunal might be founded” (para. 52). Having examined the positions of the parties, the Tribunal found that a dispute appeared to exist between the parties concerning the interpretation or application of the Convention (para. 53), and concluded that “the annex VII arbitral tribunal would prima facie have jurisdiction over the dispute” (para. 54).

74. In the light of the circumstances of the case, the Tribunal found that the requirements of article 283 of the Convention had been satisfied (para. 60). On the issue of exhaustion of local remedies (see article 295 of the Convention), the Tribunal was of the view that “since the very nature of the dispute concerns the exercise of jurisdiction over the Enrica Lexie incident, the issue of exhaustion of local remedies should not be addressed in the provisional measures phase” (para. 67). As regards the issue of whether there was an abuse of legal process within the meaning of article 294, paragraph 1, of the Convention, the Tribunal observed that “article 290 of the Convention applies independently of any other procedures that may have been instituted at the domestic level” (para. 73).

75. The Tribunal stated that in provisional measures proceedings, it “does not need to concern itself with the competing claims of the parties ... it needs only to satisfy itself that the rights which Italy and India claim and seek to protect are at least plausible” (para. 84). The Tribunal concluded that “both parties have sufficiently demonstrated that the rights they seek to protect regarding the Enrica Lexie are plausible” (para. 85).

76. The Tribunal observed that under article 290 of the Convention it “may prescribe any provisional measures which it considers appropriate under the circumstances to preserve the respective rights of the parties, which implies that there is a real and imminent risk that irreparable prejudice could be caused to the rights of the parties to the dispute pending such a time when the annex VII arbitral tribunal to which the dispute has been submitted is in a position to modify, revoke or affirm the provisional measures” (para. 87). It concluded that “in the circumstances of the present case, continuation of court proceedings or initiation of new ones by either party will prejudice rights of the other party” (para. 106), and that this consideration “requires action on the part of the Tribunal to ensure that the respective rights of the parties are duly preserved” (para. 107).

77. The Tribunal noted that it was called upon to decide whether the provisional measures requested by Italy were “appropriate taking into account the facts of the case and the arguments advanced by the parties” (para. 109). Considering the conflicting arguments of the parties regarding the status of the two Italian marines, the Tribunal concluded that the question of their status “relates to the issue of jurisdiction and cannot be decided by the Tribunal at the stage of provisional measures” (para. 113). It emphasized that the order must protect the rights of both parties and “must not prejudice any decision of the arbitral tribunal to be constituted under annex VII” (para. 125). Thus, the Tribunal considered that the two provisional measures requested by Italy, “if accepted, will not equally preserve the respective rights of both parties until the constitution of the annex VII arbitral tribunal” (para. 126). The Tribunal concluded that it “does not consider the two submissions by Italy to be appropriate and that, in accordance with article 89, paragraph 5, of the Rules, it may prescribe measures different in whole or in part from those requested” (para. 127).

78. The Tribunal found that it was appropriate for it to prescribe that “both Italy and India suspend all court proceedings and refrain from initiating new ones which might aggravate or extend the dispute submitted to the annex VII arbitral tribunal or might jeopardize or prejudice the carrying out of any decision which the arbitral tribunal may render” (para. 131). It also found that “since it will be for the annex VII arbitral tribunal to adjudicate the merits of the case, the Tribunal does not consider it appropriate to prescribe provisional measures in respect of the situation of the two marines because that touches upon issues related to the merits of the case” (para. 132).

79. In its order, the Tribunal reaffirmed its view that “considerations of humanity must apply in the law of the sea as they do in other areas of international law” (see para. 133).

80. The Tribunal prescribed, pending a decision by the annex VII arbitral tribunal, the following provisional measure under article 290, paragraph 5, of the Convention:

Italy and India shall both suspend all court proceedings and shall refrain from initiating new ones which might aggravate or extend the dispute submitted to the annex VII arbitral tribunal or might jeopardize or prejudice the carrying out of any decision which the arbitral tribunal may render.

81. The Tribunal further decided that Italy and India each had to submit an initial report to the Tribunal not later than 24 September 2015, and authorized the President to request such information as he may consider appropriate after that date. Each party submitted an initial report on the measures taken within the prescribed time limit.

D. The M/V “Norstar” Case (Panama v. Italy)

82. On 17 December 2015, Panama filed with the Tribunal an application in a dispute with Italy regarding the arrest and detention of the M/V “Norstar”, a Panamanian-flagged vessel. In its application, Panama claims compensation from Italy for damage caused by the allegedly illegal arrest of the M/V “Norstar” by Spanish officials, at the request of Italy, in the bay of Palma de Mallorca on 24 September 1998. In support of its claim, Panama contends that Italy violated several provisions (inter alia, articles 33, 73 (3) and (4), 87, 111, 226 and 300) of the Convention, in particular the right of freedom of navigation.

83. The dispute has been submitted to the Tribunal pursuant to the declarations made by Panama and Italy under article 287 of the Convention. The case has been entered in the list of cases of the Tribunal as case No. 25.

VII. Appointment of arbitrators by the President of the Tribunal pursuant to article 3 of annex VII to the Convention

84. In accordance with article 3 of annex VII to the Convention, if the parties to a dispute are unable to agree on the appointment of one or more members of the arbitral tribunal to be appointed by common agreement, or on the appointment of the president of the arbitral tribunal, the President of the Tribunal shall make the necessary appointment(s) at the request of any party to the dispute and in consultation with the parties.

85. In the arbitral proceedings under annex VII of the Convention instituted by Italy against India in respect of the dispute concerning the Enrica Lexie incident, by a letter dated 8 September 2015, Italy requested the President of the Tribunal to appoint three members of the arbitral tribunal to be constituted and to name one among them to serve as the president of the arbitral tribunal under annex VII. Further to consultations with the parties, on 30 September 2015, Patrick L. Robinson (Jamaica), Jin-Hyun Paik (Republic of Korea) and Vladimir V. Golitsyn (Russian Federation) were appointed as arbitrators and Vladimir V. Golitsyn as president of the arbitral tribunal.

121. The staff of the Registry consists of 38 staff members, of whom 18 are in the Professional and higher categories. The recruitment of staff members in the Professional category, excluding language staff, is subject to the principle of equitable geographical distribution, in accordance with regulation 4.2 of the Staff Regulations. That regulation provides as follows:

The paramount consideration in the appointment, transfer or promotion of the staff shall be the necessity for securing the highest standards of efficiency, competence and integrity. Due regard shall be paid to the importance of recruiting the staff on as wide a geographical basis as possible.

Taking into account the small number of staff in the Registry of the Tribunal, a flexible regional approach has been followed in this regard.

122. The Tribunal has taken steps to ensure that vacancy announcements are disseminated in such a way as to recruit staff on as wide a geographical basis as possible. Information on vacancies is transmitted to the embassies in Berlin of the States parties to the Convention, and to the permanent missions in New York. The information is also posted on the Tribunal's website and published in the press.

123. The Tribunal applies, mutatis mutandis, the recruitment procedures followed by the United Nations. In accordance with those procedures, the principle of geographical distribution does not apply to the recruitment of General Service staff. However, the Tribunal has also made efforts to recruit General Service staff on as wide a geographical basis as possible.
